Newspapermen Send Letter To Nikita on Berlin Situation

EDITOR'S NOTE—Paul Miller, president of the Gannett Newspapers, and Walter Stone, editor-in-chief of the Scripps-Howard Newspapers, have been close friends from college days in Oklahoma, 35 years ago, and professional rivals since. Together with other representatives of the American Society of Newspaper Editors they interviewed Premier Khrushchev in Moscow on July 13. And, together, they went to Berlin this week and joined in this letter to Premier Khrushchev.

BERLIN (AP)—An open letter from Berlin, July 24, 1962, to:

His Excellency, Nikita S. Khrushchev

Chairman, Council of Ministers Moscow, U.S.S.R.

Dear Mr. Chairman:

A little more than a week ago, with a group of 10 other American newspapermen, we sat with you in the Kremlin and listened attentively to your views on how to solve the problem of Berlin in a way which you believed would contribute to the happiness and security of the German people and ease the tensions between the U.S.S.R. and the United States and its allies.

Neither of us had been in Berlin for several years. We did not know how Berliners felt. So, on coming here after leaving the cordial hospitality of the Soviet Union, it seemed logical to ask the people of Berlin, both East and West, whether they agreed with your ideas and welcomed your proposals.

This is a report to you, our host in Moscow, as well as to our newspaper readers in America, on what we heard—and saw.

First, let it be emphasized that we did not talk with Mayor Willy Brandt nor any officials of West Berlin. Nor did we talk with Herr Ulbricht or any officials of East Berlin or East Germany. But for the better part of two days we roamed the streets of both West and East Berlin, ranging both sides of the wall that has been erected to divide this great city, and talked with Germans willing to talk.

Using several different interpreters, we talked with people of such varied occupations as manual workers, clerks, students, lawyers, secretaries, businessmen, border guards, nurses, housewives and of course taxi drivers who seem to be the common denominator of public opinion in all countries whatever the social system.

For these conversations we took along the official Soviet Union transcript of our Kremlin interview on July 13, and we read from that document the statements and suggestions you made.

We told these people that we believe an accurate summary of your ideas and proposals can be expressed this way:

1. The last vestiges of the war

Lisbon Woman Hurt In Crash

2 Other Accidents Probed by Patrol

A Lisbon woman received a bump on the head and an ankle injury in one of three traffic accidents on area highways Monday.

Janice K. Ebert, 22, of 249 E. High St., was hurt when her car overturned on Rt. 558 south of New Waterford at 8:35 a.m. The State Highway Patrol said she was driving east at an excessive rate of speed when the car ran off the right side of the pavement, then veered across to the left side of the road and rolled over.

She told the investigating officer she would go to her own doctor for treatment. The Patrol cited her for speeding. The accident occurred about one mile west of Rt. 46.

No one was hurt but a house trailer being towed by a Wooster man was damaged extensively when it overturned on Rt. 30, about two miles south of Guilford Lake, at 4:30 p.m.

According to the Patrol, Martyn A. Howley, 66, was driving his car east, pulling a 1955-model house trailer. As the vehicles went around a curve, the trailer started weaving and Howley was unable to control it. The trailer rolled over on its side, blocking both lanes of traffic on Rt. 30.

Patrolmen remained on the scene for three hours, directing traffic and investigating the accident.

Cars operated by Leonard G. Plate, 22, of RD 1, Wellsville, and Dominic Presutti, 55, of Wellsville, collided on Rt. 39, two miles west of Wellsville, at 4:10 p.m.

The Patrol reported that Plate was attempting to make a left turn just as Presutti started to pass him. Plate's car was struck in the rear.

Trio Faces Charges In Alliance Murder

ALLIANCE, Ohio (AP) — Stark County Prosecutor Norman J. Putman plans to present first-degree murder charges to the grand jury Wednesday against three Canton men accused of killing 69-year-old Rudolph Girardini.

The accused men waived preliminary hearings Monday. They are Louis C. Rowlands, 20, Melvin D. Schrader, 19, and Lacey Copeland, 28.

Girardini, a retired blacksmith, was beaten to death early last Friday by two men burglarizing his home. The assailants also beat his wife, Stella, 59. Mrs. Girardini is listed in fair condition in Alliance City Hospital. A cedar chest, mistakenly assumed to be filled with money was taken from the bedroom of the Girardini home.

U.S., Europe Trade Views Via Telstar

NEW YORK (AP)—Americans got a look at Europe, and Europeans got a look at the United States Monday in the first exchange of live television programs.

Pleasure was expressed on both sides of the Atlantic, as the oneforward distance between the two continents shrank to the size of a home television screen.

The distance was bridged electronically by the Telstar satellite, which enabled the television men to beam signals across space from continent to continent in milliseconds.

The result was international television programming—and good programming at that. Missing, however, was any hint of the competition that usually pervades the fields of entertainment. Each side rooted for the other's success.

This nation's program was first. For 20 minutes it gave Europe a swift, panoramic glimpse of American life including the Statue of Liberty, a baseball game, a presidential news conference, a busy expressway in Detroit, a summer theater, hula dancers, astronauts, the United Nations, a fairground and the chiseled faces on Mt. Rushmore.

Europe reciprocated with pictures of Big Ben in London, a Paris street scene, a Swedish maid, Sicilian boats and fishermen, a riding school in Vienna, the Square of the Republic in Belgrade, the opera in Rome, a scientific center in Geneva and the heart of industrial Germany. The American program went over big in Europe. One London newspaper called it "the greatest show on earth and in space." Enthusiastic comment came from Germany, Spain, France and elsewhere on the continent.

Reception of the American show was good in Europe, and reception of the European show was good here, although the last minute or so of the 20-minute European program was lost to American viewers as Telstar dropped below the horizon.

Because of a recalculation of Telstar's orbit, the American program was slightly rearranged to show a portion of the Cubs-Phillies baseball game in Chicago ahead of the President's news conference.

The late change in scheduling caused Europeans to miss President Kennedy's opening remarks, in which he noted that a portion of the news conference was being televised to Europe and hailed the premiere of international television programming.

The scene shifted to Cape Canaveral, where astronaut John H. Glenn Jr. described future space projects, saying that space information can now be shared quickly "with all of you."

High-Altitude Nuclear Test Is Postponed

HONOLULU (AP)—The United States today postponed its planned second high-altitude nuclear explosion for 24 hours.

In Washington the Atomic Energy Commission said the reason for the delay was weather conditions.

The announcement by Task Force 8 officials here followed 10 separate half hour holds that pushed the planned test right up to the 3 a.m. deadline that had been previously set. The shot originally had been set for 10 p.m.

The test, when it comes off, will be in the submegaton range, equivalent to between 20,000 and one million tons of TNT. It will be exploded at an altitude of 30 to 40 miles.

Saskatchewan Doctors' Strike Is Settled

Agreement Calls For Amendment to Medical Care Plan

SASKATOON, Sask. (AP)—Saskatchewan doctors begin reopening their office doors today following settlement of their 23-day boycott of the province's government medical care plan.

The end of the dispute came Monday with the signing of a doctor-government agreement to amend the medical care act to allow doctors to practice outside the plan.

Premier Woodrow Lloyd is to call a special session of the legislature shortly to adopt the amendments.

The Saskatchewan College of Physicians and Surgeons, governing body of the province's doctors, will begin dismantling the emergency service it operated in 41 of the province's 154 hospitals.

College officials said it will take about 10 days to return things to normal.

Gromyko Rips West's Test Ban Proposal

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko today accused the Western powers of blocking progress in the 17-nation disarmament conference. He said they sought a paradise for North Atlantic Treaty Organization spies in their disarmament control proposals.

Gromyko addressed the opening session of the disarmament conference which has been in recess since last week. He stated bluntly that so far the conference has "not really moved the cause of disarmament one step forward."

He urged a "business-like and constructive" approach to the problem, but presented no new proposals from the Soviet side.

He insisted that the Soviet Union must stick to one of the chief points resisted by the United States and other Western powers—that the first stage of disarmament include destruction of all nuclear weapons.

In the first address of the day, Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon said he deeply regretted the Soviet nuclear testing.

U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk followed Gromyko. Rusk said he regretted the Soviet resumption of nuclear testing and commented: "I never knew where the idea came from about the right to test last."

"Even after more than 40 Soviet tests," Rusk said, "the United States had offered to sign a nuclear test treaty that would have allowed inspection of Soviet territory per year. And this was not accepted."

Menon was the only speaker in today's meeting for the neutral group of eight nations which is trying to bridge the gap between the Eastern and Western powers. Menon said the Soviet announcement last week was "proof that the arms race is spiraling." He said it underlined an urgent need for a test ban.

Without mentioning the U.S. nuclear tests specifically, he sharply condemned all atomic weapons tests. He also emphasized that steps must be taken to prevent wider distribution of nuclear weapons.

The disarmament conference recessed its plenary sessions Thursday.

Stiff Senate Fight Due on Farm Plan

WASHINGTON (AP) — A stiff Senate fight was forming today over efforts to rescue major features of President Kennedy's farm program, once apparently doomed.

The first test will come this week in the agriculture committee. The scene will shift next week to the Senate floor.

When the Senate sent the House when the Senate set the House farm bill to its agriculture committee with instructions to report it back by next Monday. Debate is scheduled to start Aug. 1.

At issue are two bills. The Senate passed the administration farm bill earlier in the session. Among other things, it called for tight mandatory controls on the production of such surplus crops as wheat and feed grains.

The House killed that measure and last week passed its own farm bill, which in effect would extend the present voluntary production controls on wheat and feed grains for another year.

Sen. Allen J. Ellender, D-La., chairman of the Senate Agriculture Committee, said Monday he will ask the committee to substitute the Senate version for the House bill this week. Failing that, he said, he would ask the Senate to readopt the previous Senate measure.

The mandatory controls failed by a 9-8 vote in Ellender's committee earlier this year, but were written into the bill on the Senate floor. Democratic sources say

Tells Newsmen No Progress Seen In Berlin

President Promises No Reduction In Value of Dollar

WASHINGTON (AP) — With Europeans watching and listening as he spoke, President Kennedy rebuked the Soviet Union for testing nuclear weapons, reported no recent progress on Berlin and promised not to reduce the value of the dollar.

As the President answered reporters' questions Monday, some of his comments were beamed to the American Telstar communications satellite. From its lofty orbit the Telstar provided the first simultaneous telecast of a presidential news conference for viewers on both sides of the Atlantic.

For nearly five minutes, before the U.S. portion of the historic program exchange jumped to another spot, Europeans joined the American audience.

Although the President knew from a little red light on the rostrum when Telstar was operating, there was no timing of particular questions to the period in which Europeans watched.

They missed later exchanges—as when Kennedy said a Democratic gain of 5 to 10 seats in the House and a couple in the Senate would carry his programs through Congress. The scene had shifted when he called the Congo situation "very, very serious."

They did not hear Kennedy's opening statement, when he took note of the occasion and described Telstar's capacity for speedy communications as "a very essential requirement for peace." The understanding it can cultivate, he said, is bound to enhance the security and well-being of people everywhere.

They were on the receiving end, however, when he said "the world plunges deeper into uncertainty" with the new Soviet round of nuclear tests. The United States, he declared, is "very reluctant to test" again and will not unless the Soviet series develops what he considers a further threat to Allied security.

Europeans also heard the President engage briefly in a domestic issue, saying Congress should stay in session until it acts on important legislation.

The ocean-spanning segment of the conference began as Kennedy was summing up his view of current prospects for a Berlin settlement: "We hope that an accord

Now Presides Over Them

Gen. Taylor Advocated Scrapping Joint Chiefs

By JAMES MARLOW
Associated Press News Analyst
WASHINGTON (AP) — Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor got the second-best job of his career for looking like a yes-man. It turned out he wasn't, and he quit. Now, for not being a yes-man, he gets the best job.

This puts two strong-willed men in the Pentagon: Taylor, whom President Kennedy called out of retirement last year and has just named chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara.

How they get along will be one of the interesting stories ahead. In early 1955, when Taylor was commander of the Army forces in the Far East, he was called back to Washington without being told why. He was ushered into the office of Secretary of Defense Charles Wilson.

In a book which he wrote later — "The Uncertain Trumpet," Taylor said Wilson rambled around the bush and finally cross-examined him on his willingness to accept civilian orders.

Taylor said he reassured Wilson he never had been insubordinate. Then President Eisenhower sent for him, asked the same question, got the same answer. The result: On June 30, 1955, Taylor was named Army chief of staff and, as such, a member of the Joint Chiefs of Staff.

Four years later to the day he retired. In between times three things had happened.

He had protested in vain against cutting the size of the Army; he developed the idea the Joint Chiefs of Staff as such should be abolished, and he was in deep disagreement with the Eisenhower administration defense concept.

The book he wrote a year later was about that disagreement.

Briefly, he felt the administration put too much emphasis on "massive retaliation." Since the United States and Russia now had the power to flatten each other, he felt, neither would voluntarily start a nuclear war.

Therefore, he reasoned, what could be expected from communism was a lot of wars smaller than the all-out kind which would require the biggest nuclear weapons.

His point was that this country must be prepared to cope with general atomic war, limited atomic war, conventional war and guerrilla war.

In his book he expanded on his idea that the present Joint Chiefs of Staff should be scrapped and replaced by a single defense chief of staff and an advisory board which he called the supreme military council.

Congress has been opposed to the idea of a single head of the military services. The heads of those services—the Joint Chiefs—would never sit still for it.

Now as chairman of the Joint Chiefs—a job which puts him in close contact with McNamara—Taylor will have to preside over meetings of the Joint Chiefs who, he said, shouldn't be there.

The prospect of what this may mean doesn't seem to disturb Kennedy.

One of Taylor's first jobs for the President last year as his special military adviser was to study the failure of the disastrous Cuban invasion for which Kennedy took responsibility although his Joint Chiefs had been in on the plans for it.

Late last year Kennedy sent Taylor to South Viet Nam to see what could be done to stop the Communist advance there through guerrilla war.

When Taylor returned it was understood he advised against sending American troops into Viet Nam to fight but that he did suggest sending in military help in the form of planes, military advisers and experts to train the Vietnamese in guerrilla fighting.

Not long afterward the United States began sending helicopters into Viet Nam—they've helped in the fighting since—and troops who, among other chores that avoided direct involvement, teach guerrilla fighting.

Kennedy last year bought Taylor's "balance of forces" idea and cast aside "massive retaliation" as the all-purpose philosophy.

Alleged Murderer To Be Arraigned

WAKEENEY, Kan. (AP)—The arraignment of Harry J. Bloomer 29, an ex-convict from Youngstown, Ohio, on a first-degree murder charge was scheduled for today.

Arraignment was originally set for Monday, but it was postponed. District Court Judge Benedict Cruise said he needed more time to find a lawyer for Bloomer, who requested the court to appoint counsel for him.

The judge asked five lawyers to assume the task, but all asked to be excused.

Bloomer is accused of slaying the Wakeeney city marshal, Al Calycamp, and wounding Sheriff Chet McAttee July 14.

His girl friend, Shirley Nixon, 17, of Wilsonville, Neb., was committed to the Girls' Industrial School at Beloit Monday after a hearing in Juvenile Court.

Bloomer and the girl were hitchhiking east of Wakeeney when the two officers picked them up for questioning. Sheriff McAttee said the shooting occurred after the couple was put in the sheriff's car. Bloomer and the girl fled on foot and were captured in an abandoned granary three days later.

Holt, American missionary. The story is of the gradual coming to power of the Communists.

Conditions In the 'Colonies'

If our Jack Kennedy were Britain's Harold Macmillan, he would be shaking up his Cabinet in a move to restore confidence.

Yet the British prime minister is still in a touch-and-go situation despite the shakeup. After getting rid of his most controversial associates and reshuffling his government at the junior level, Mr. Macmillan was jereed in the House of Commons by critics who thought he should have kicked himself out with the rest of the expandables.

Parliamentary government is no more charitable to an administration in trouble than our own, which requires a government that can't command confidence to serve out its term. Whether Britain's greater flexibility is an advantage is not easy to determine.

When Frenchmen were changing governments as often as they changed their shirts, parliamentary government was a travesty. The British are more cautious. They now are up against a hard question: Who would it be if it weren't Macmillan and the Conservatives?

If the United States could change governments by parliamentary maneuver without waiting for a presidential election, who would it be here?

If the "medicare" proposal, the agriculture bill, of the department of urban affairs proposal had been defeated in parliamentary votes of confidence, what would be required now to restore confidence in the United States?

In Britain 16 high officials have left the government and more than a third of junior ministerial posts have changed hands. But whether confidence can be restored even by this drastic shakeup is doubtful, and in Britain there is this vital fact—that Prime Minister Macmillan enjoyed strong support after Jan. 10, 1957, when he succeeded Anthony Eden. Mr. Kennedy never did enjoy strong support.

There is nothing seriously wrong with British confidence now, other than the fact a chancellor of the exchequer had been asking British labor to go easy on wage boosts. Yet dissatisfaction over this was enough to set off a political explosion of major proportions. Even so, Prime Minister Macmillan doesn't begin to have the problems plaguing his young friend in the "colonies."

No Price Tag On Friendship

Seventeen years after the end of World War II, the United States is still pouring billions into foreign aid.

With the job of reconstructing war-ravaged Europe long since completed and with the economy of continental nations equaling or surpassing our own, American dollars are being shoveled into the battle to stem the tide of communism.

But on the very day that Senate-House conferees reach agreement on a $4.672 billion foreign assistance bill, the premier of Iran resigns in a financial crisis and blames the United States for slashing aid to Iran — "America's only sincere friend in this part of the world."

And the irony of it all is that the conferees have dropped the provision in the foreign aid bill which would have barred U.S. assistance to the United Nations and Iron Curtain countries.

The Iranian situation bares two thorny points:

1. Our policy of aiding and abetting Communist countries is not appreciated by those who profess to be our best friends and, in fact, may prove in the long run to be more harmful to the cause of world peace than a complete blackout of aid to the likes of Yugoslavia's Tito.

2. Once vast sums of money are poured into a country to bolster its economy and finance its imposed reforms, there can be no cutoff date without dire consequences.

True friendship does not carry a price tag. It's something you cannot buy, as Uncle Sam will some day learn the hard way if ever we become so naive as to believe that beneficences we perform today will be remembered with gratitude tomorrow.

Price-Cutting In Steel

A Wall Street Journal report from Pittsburgh about price-cutting in steel especially mentions cuts by U.S. Steel's National Tube Division.

These have been made, according to the Journal, to bring Big Steel's price in line with the prices of some of its competitors. Elsewhere in the steel industry, price concessions are being made on selected items for the same reason—to nail down orders being placed by purchasers shopping around for the best deal they can find.

Not only does this shopping around refute political rumblings last Spring about monopoly practices in the steel industry, but it lets the air out of the supposition that the steel industry had to elevate its prices in order to survive. The supposition never did make sense while the industry was complaining about being undersold in this country by foreign competitors, yet it was hammered on hard in the attempt to justify a price increase.

The way things have turned out since then, the increase would have been used the way merchants offer mark-downs on goods previously marked up to make the mark-down look bigger.

So far, says the Wall Street Journal, things aren't greatly different from the usual summer slump in steel, plus this year's additional setback from inventories accumulated in case of another steel strike. Steel men still think August and September will bring improvement.

It can only be guessed how it would have turned out if a handful of producers hadn't blocked an industrywide price increase led by U.S. Steel last April.

Cold Statistics

With six months yet to go this year, Columbia County's traffic death toll stands at 18.

This is somewhat alarming when you consider that this total is more than double the 8 fatalities recorded at this time last year.

Cold statistics tell a pretty grim story, don't they?

By Truman Twill

Punting

A big thing at Oxford, both among university students and townspeople, is punting. Big besides cricket, that is, which is going on all the time.

There's nothing I could add to what already has been spoofed off about cricket, a game no hustle-bustle American ever can understand. Even watching it is an inducement to start yawning, though I did find out one curious thing.

There's much to do about taking off sweaters and putting them on again. When a sweater is removed it is handed to the official who stands beside the bowler. This dignitary ties it around his midriff by the sleeves, with the main part of the garment dangling from his derriere. Whether or not there's a limit to the number that can be tied on is just another of the inscrutabilities of cricket.

To understand it would be to understand what has gone into the fabric of English life—the English way of doing things—the national trait of slavish obedience to the "proper." Even if I couldn't get the hang of cricket I think I could get the hang of the English, which figures. My descent on my father's side is from England.

One of my ancestors, starting as a tutor in St. John's College at Oxford, went all the way to professor of ecclesiastical history and eventually became dean of St. Paul's. He is honored with a plaque in Westminster Abbey, though I didn't see it.

Another ancestor had a pretty good job under Queen Anne and was elevated to the peerage. The family was founded in England by one of the roughnecks who came over from Normandy in 1066 with William the Conqueror. If I have a feeling of kinship it could be traced to what was passed along by my ancestors.

Who knows? I might even be able to play cricket.

But I'll never punt. I'll pass.

We went punting on the Cherwell, which runs into the Thames a little way from Oxford. A punt is a flat-bottomed boat, square at both ends, with a platform at the stern where the punter stands with a pole to propel the thing.

Our son had the hang of it from having done it before. The rest of us reclined on mats spread in the bottom of the punt and admired his skill. He made it look easy.

You push down with the pole until it hits bottom, then shove the boat forward, lifting the pole from the water for the next thrust. As it comes up it can be given a rudder effect, like that of a canoe paddle.

In no time we had reached the Thames, too deep for punting. On the way back I began to wonder if I could do what our punter was doing. He had been wondering too. "Want to try it?" he asked. I moved into punt formation.

The Cherwell isn't wide. My first push carried the punt against the stone wall that lined one side of the stream. While hoisting the pole I lost my balance and had to regain it by shifting the pole, like one of the famous Wallendas, who do that wire-balancing act in the circus.

By this time the current was turning the boat around. My next thrust carried it to the opposite bank. My passengers were calling out advice while this was going on. None of it was helpful. The boat was too wobbly, the pole too long, the current too swift and by coordination too herky-jerky.

I did want to be able to say I had gone punting on the Cherwell. It would give me something to drop into lagging conversations.

As it turned out, I'll have to amend this a little: "I went punting on the Cherwell; I should have tried a pass."

Reporting For Duty to Haunt the Fall Elections, Sir!

Space Dollars Returning

Before leaving for Europe, Victor Riesel asked Werner von Braun, director of the Marshall Space Flight Center at Huntsville, Ala., to set down in writing just what our experiments in outer space will repay us. Mr. von Braun's answer is the material for today's column.

By WERNER VON BRAUN

The dollars spent for space exploration are coming back home.

Their return is heralded by the clanging of that sensitive seismograph of our economy, the cash register. With each peal of its bell this instrument is recording some of the feedback from the curiosity that impels our space research.

The homecoming benefits affect not only your pocketbook — but health, and your happiness.

They vary from the broad and intangible to the specific and practical. The feedback at the practical end of the spectrum is not unexpected. It is also not promised.

Next year American taxpayers will plunk out almost $4 billion on faith alone for the broad space exploration program of the National Aeronautics and Space Administration. Practical industrial applications are not promised, for they develop on broad fronts, and skitter off in unpredictable directions.

FOR THE FIRST time in history a people is supporting a long-range project of enormous costs and consequence for the advancement of science and technology alone — apart from the military, political, and economic aspects.

NASA's success is measured in exploration of the unknown, intellectual development, and new knowledge gained, rather than the common yardsticks of production, such as cartons, dozens, tons or bushels.

The prime commodity of our undertaking is brainpower — not horsepower.

Pure scientific inquiry has seldom been sufficient justification for obtaining huge funds for research and exploration.

Columbus pleaded stubbornly for 18 frustrating years before he outfitted the Nina, the Pinta and the Santa Maria, and sailed westward.

He had to promise economic and military benefits instead of the only true justification for probing the unknown — man's natural curiosity.

History has shown us that it pays in unexpected but useful ways to try to understand everything on the earth, beneath it, and in the heavens.

Advances in scientific knowledge spur advances in technology, and these in turn stimulate economic development.

EVERY MAJOR scientific discovery is like priming a pump to water the flowers of a flourishing civilization.

The United States has successfully launched more than 80 satellites and space probes. What are some of the scientific truths discovered?

From Explorer I, the first U.S. satellite, came discovery of the immense radiation field around the earth, which plays an important role in the transfer of the sun's life-sustaining energies to the earth. They must also be considered in sustained space travel by man.

Vanguard I, the tiny 3½-pound grapefruit-size satellite, showed that the earth is slightly pear shaped.

Explorer XI discredited a major theory on the origin of the universe.

While such recondite information intrigues scientists, it is not the stuff that excites the average citizen or jingles cash registers.

THE BROADEST practical payoff comes from the improved technology which has made space feats possible.

There are now literally hundreds of indisputable dollars-and-cents dividends from our space effort. There are so many, in fact, that a book has been written about them. Its title is "The Practical Values of Space Exploration."

This 74-page report of the House Committee on Science and Astronautics is available from the Superintendent of Documents, U.S. Government Printing Office, Washington, D.C., for 30 cents.

The dollars devoted to our space program are not launched up to the moon. They are spent right here on earth — in the nations factories, workshops and laboratories. They pay salaries, buy equipment and supplies.

Numerous by-products and applications of space research are emerging daily throughout our economy.

They are more frequent in the fields of electronics, metals, fuels, ceramics, machinery, plastics instruments textiles therapeutics, cryogenics, and medicine; but they are found in a thousand other areas.

There's a house paint that never needs renewing and a glass that stays sterile permanently.

MINIATURE sensors like those attached to the bodies of John Glenn and Scott Carpenter during orbit to monitor heart action, blood pressure, and breathing rates are used in hospitals for closer watch over patients by fewer nurses.

One of the most far-reaching intangible benefits of the Space Age has been the demand for better trained and better educated people. This new era has led us to reexamine and improve our entire curriculum in elementary and high school, stressing the hard core subjects such as science, mathematics and English.

On the college level it has called for the training of more engineers and scientists, and improved curriculum, and better qualified teachers.

THE SPACE AGE is an infant. Man has not yet soared 200 miles from earth. Our first tottering steps across the threshold into space can be likened to the beginning of air travel in 1903.

When the bicycle wheels of Orville Wright's 12-horsepower plane touched down in a field at Kitty Hawk, N.C., he had flown for 59 seconds at a top speed of 30 miles an hour. No one then foresaw from this feeble beginning the jet travel of today, the huge aircraft industry, and the effects of air travel on our way of life.

Our astronauts say their orbital rides closely resembled flight in a high altitude plane. The earth was always close at hand comfortably available for an emergency landing.

Soon our space travelers will see the earth receding, growing smaller and smaller, until it becomes a tiny ball in the distance. Then our traveler will realize that he is truly suspended in space.

WHO CAN foretell what the future holds?

One thing is certain. Today's predictions will surely become tomorrow's accomplishments.

As Jules Verne, who wrote a fictional story of a trip to the moon 100 years ago, said: "Anything one man can imagine, other men can make real."

Every American has a role in making man's long-cherished dream of space travel come true. And every one will share in the feedback of curiosity which prompts the journey.

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: Last week my husband and I were invited to the home of friends.

Mr. X met us at the door. Mrs. X was dressing, he said, but she would be "out in a minute." Then the telephone rang. He talked for a long time then told us in a shaky voice there had been a death in the family. He excused himself, went into the bedroom and stayed about 15 minutes.

His wife came out with him, greeted us in a scatterbrained manner and said "Please forgive me, I have some telephoning to do."

She holed up for two hours and left us sitting. He kept running in and out of the living room and made no attempt to entertain us. He didn't even offer us refreshments or turn on the TV. Here we had paid a baby sitter good money and traveled quite a distance to spend the evening with them.

When we left, Mrs. X was still on the phone and she didn't even say goodbye. Is this hospitality? We are burned up at the shabby treatment. I say they are clods. What do you say?—S.L.W.

Dear S.L.W.: Clods is right—YOU not them.

The host and hostess did not plan the death to ruin your evening. The moment it became apparent that you were in the way you should have left.

One for the Men

Dear Ann: What's the matter with the women of today, anyway? Either their husbands telephone their mothers too often, or they snore too loud, or they point to an empty coffee cup instead of asking for a refill. How petty

Almost everybody outside of Congress would like to see a bill passed now to cut income taxes. Almost everybody inside Congress, however, is afraid to enact such a law because it could be a political boomerang.

This paradox extends to the White House, too. President Kennedy isn't sure that this is the time for a new set of income tax rates. Most of his advisers think now is just the time.

The contradictions are easily explained. Everybody is for the idea of a tax cut, but, if the rates are changed, many voters are bound to be disappointed. Politically, it's risky for a member of Congress to have voted for any reduction in tax rates for the wealthy and failed to give the benefit of virtually the entire cut to the voters in the lower brackets.

POLITICALLY speaking, too, it's hazardous for members of both parties to rush a tax bill through just before the November elections, when the voters will be especially well informed about the failure of Congress to give them the tax cut they expected to get.

Then there are the voters who just don't believe it's wise from the standpoint of the national economy deliberately to pile up the large deficit that surely would follow a tax cut.

The argument that business will be spurred and tax receipts will be increased somewhat so as to offset the deficit in part doesn't register very deeply with those voters who see dangers in a continuation of an unbalanced budget.

If there's a bigger treasury deficit, moreover, the effect may be felt in a lack of confidence abroad in the gold value of the dollar. It may be reflected also in higher interest rates at home.

The theory of the advocates of an "across the board" tax cut is that it gives the people more money to spend, and that this acts as a spur to business. It hasn't proved that way in the past. Spending for consumer goods has held up fairly well anyway in recent months. A tax cut for a man without a job isn't particularly helpful.

JOB CREATION, moreover, comes out of the steady expansion of all branches of business. Today unemployment is largely centered in the heavy goods industries. These would not be materially benefited by the increases in consumer spending for a short term period.

It is no answer to say, as the theorists do, that there is plenty of idle plant capacity now anyway. Actually, what's needed is new plant and equipment and modernization so as to reduce manufacturing costs and prices and bring about an increase in the total volume of sales in various classes of goods.

A selective formula is all-important so that certain rates in corporation taxes and regulations covering tax deductions for various items may be modified in order to furnish a stimulus for long term investment in plant and machinery.

The new depreciation rules will help in some respects, but the present tendency toward higher interest rates can delay purchases of new plant and equipment.

So far as tax legislation is concerned, the political pressure will grow also for an increase in personal exemptions. Yet a $100 increase in exemptions means a cost to the Treasury of $7 billion.

If, to be sure, there develops a serious movement toward adjusting the tax rates themselves, the joint proposal by Reps. A. S. Herlong, Jr., D-Fla., and Howard H. Baker, R-Tenn., constitutes a sensible approach.

They would reduce tax rates for both individuals and corporations gradually over a five-year period beginning next January. They would bring corporate tax rates down from 52 per cent to 42 per cent by 1968.

As for individual income taxes, these would be reduced on a consistent pattern, with a top rate ultimately of 42 per cent and a minimum reduction of 25 per cent for every taxpayer.

THE PRESIDENT has been backing a general tax-reform bill, but it has run into snags on Capitol Hill, as the administration has introduced several new proposals — designed to increase revenues — that have caused an unsettling of confidence among businessmen.

If the theorists would step aside, and if the Congress would ignore the pressure for a reduction of individual tax rates and get an equitable set of tax regulations from a sound economic standpoint, the effects of such a reform measure would be felt for a long time to come.

President Kennedy is believed to be inclined to wait till January for the enactment of a tax reform bill, so that the full effect would be felt in time for his reelection bid in 1964. He is represented as feeling that to pass a tax law now could complicate the economic situation and cause a loss of many Democratic seats in Congress.

So, as usual, the "when-in-doubt-don't" school of thought is gaining headway, both at the White House and in Congress.

Why don't women wise up and realize that no human being can be perfect? Believe me, Ann, I figure if my husband can put up with my faults I can put up with his. Sure he's got a few traits that annoy me, but I'll bet I've got some that annoy him.

I have eight children, and I still say women have it easier than men. When I'm tired or not feeling well I can let things slide till tomorrow, but my husband has to go to the work six days a week no matter how he feels. We women can do the housework when and how we feel like it. No foreman is standing behind us writing things down on a chart. Why don't these complaining wives get smart? If they showed their men a little appreciation they'd get a lot back in return.—DARNED HAPPY.

Dear Happy: You're right on the button, honey. Thanks for some solid, old-fashioned wisdom. I agree.

Call for Referee

Dear Ann: My wife and I are having an argument and have agreed to let you settle it. We are writing this letter together, so you are getting the facts as approved by both of us.

Our two children are 3 and 4 years of age. My mother and dad live about 400 miles from here. They want us to leave the children with them for two months while my wife and I take a business trip out of the country.

My wife is opposed to the idea because my folks speak a foreign language most of the time. She says the children are in their formative years and it will interfere with their English if they are confused by another language. I say it won't hurt their English one bit and that young children learn easily and forget easily.

Please give us your views.—DIVIDED.

Dear Divided: By all means leave the children with their grandparents. They would profit handsomely from the experience. Exposure to a second language will in no way interfere with the language they now know. It will add a dimension to their personalities and the experience could be a great asset to them later.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Salem News, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

The Doctor Says

By DR. H. T. HYMAN

Questions And Answers

Q—Is it all right to store baby foods in cans in a refrigerator? I opened four cans of vegetables last week and the insides were black. I threw them away and my husband said I was wasteful. How often can you recook vegetables before they lose their nutrition? And can you advise as to what I can add to milk to induce a child under one to drink?

A—You may safely store foods in your refrigerator in their original containers so long as you do not contaminate the contents by leaving them exposed too long or by handling or tasting them. And so long as the refrigerator is kept at the required temperature.

You were right to reject the contents of blackened cans, but you should not have thrown them away. Instead, you should have returned them to the store where they were purchased to get a money refund. And the storekeeper should have been informed to remove other cans of the same lot from his shelves until health officers made an investigation.

As to recooking vegetables:

Measure out just about what you think will be eaten at table. If economy is important, underestimate rather than overestimate. Prepare your vegetables in a pressure cooker with a minimum of water. Keep drained water for soup stock or gravy as it contains vitamins and minerals.

If your children want more vegetables, it's only a matter of a few moments wait until you can prepare more. If they don't eat what you serve them, make them go without dessert or in-between snacks.

And a little chocolate or vanilla flavor will tempt your child to drink the milk.

Q—I had a cancer taken off my face four years ago. Radium was used. Will that prevent me from having a normal child now? I am 41 years old.

A—Certainly not. In fact, you needn't have waited this long. The radium application could not have had any significant influence on any organ whose function is concerned with impregnation or development of the child.

Hints From Heloise

By HELOISE CRUSE

Dear Heloise: Knowing that many people travel in the summer time, and after reading your column, I am writing to tell you how I pack so that it might help others. I pack all of my hair items in one makeup box, and all of my make-up items in another. Then I lay out each dress on a portable rack, on its hanger. (By the way, when I do pack the dress, I put it in the suit case right on its own hanger. Hotel rooms seldom have enough hangers or the correct type.)

I never pack a dress in a suitcase until I have laid out the matching shoes, purse, gloves and hat that I will wear with it. Then I pack my gloves and kerchief inside the purse that I will be carrying. A bed is an excellent place to put out all of the items. When I have the entire outfit together, then I pack it. I always see that the belt is attached to the dress hanger for each dress. I have a special case for my hats. It is a tall hatbox style. I always stuff my hats carefully with tissue paper and I put a good deal of the tissue inside the hat box so they will not rattle around in traveling. When I get to my destination I unpack all of my clothing, including the hats so they can "stretch out and breathe." I never let my hats stay in their case. As I wear each dress, I put it in the bottom of the suitcase on its hanger so I don't have to unpack that one again. I always wash my underwear each night. One thing I cannot stand is to pack soiled clothing with clean clothing. If possible, I also wash out my dresses each night. They are then clean to repack. Even if I do not have time the next day

Yep, it's the movie star! See who reads our column? She's just like we are, girls — even washes her own clothing!

HELOISE

DEAR HELOISE: I have found that if you rub the spots caused by milk stains on baby clothes with some lemon juice and then put soap on it, the ugly stains will be removed. Afterward wash as usual in soapsuds and hot water and let dry in the sun.

MRS. TROY McDAVID

It could easily be in your driveway!

What motorist wouldn't happily trade circumstances with this delighted gentleman?

For this is his first Cadillac—and its arrival in his driveway has occasioned almost as much excitement in the neighborhood as it has in his own home.

But if you appreciate his good fortune—then envy him also his wisdom.

For he has, without any question, made the move to the "car of cars" at the ideal moment. He discovered, for instance, that the Cadillac Coupe is now actually priced below eleven models of other less desirable motor cars.

Furthermore, he found that most of the features he wanted—power steering, power braking and Hydra-Matic drive—were included in the initial price of a Cadillac.

And he has already had a hint of other Cadillac economies. The gasoline gauge has barely budged off the "full" mark and the car moves so quietly that he knows he can drive it with pride for years to come.

Yet, he'll be in for a happy surprise when the time does come to sell it. For a Cadillac can be expected to retain a greater portion of its value than any other motor car.

So if you have a Cadillac in your heart—then let us show you how quickly and easily we could put one in your driveway.

Come see us at any time.

U.S. Defector Is Quoted As Liking Korea

TOKYO (AP)—North Korea today quoted a young America defector as saying life under communism is happy and superior to living in a capitalist country. "Everything is new and wonderful," 18-year-old Pvt. Larry A. Abshier was quoted as saying in a North Korean broadcast monitored in Tokyo.

The U.S. Army said Abshier left his unit on the front lines in Korea and crossed into Red territory May 28. Abshier, whose legal address was the Illinois Soldiers and Sailors Children Home in Normal, Ill., is the son of George Abshier of Cleveland.

The language attributed to the youth and the glowing words about North Korea varied little from the propaganda language broadcast daily from the Red capital of Pyongyang.

"Freely visiting towns and villages, I have seen with my own eyes the happy life of the North Korean people," the broadcast quoted the soldier as saying.

"I came across everywhere people without want. . . I began to realize, though vaguely, that these are products of the new system called socialism."

"I want to advise American soldiers," he was quoted as saying, "if they really want peace, they should not die a useless death as the scapegoat for the Pentagon but demand their return to the homeland in opposition to the military exercises and war preparations."

"I will remain here and study in a university."

COMMITTED TO HOSPITAL

LISBON — Carl W. Rockwood, 18, of East Liverpool was committed to Lima State Hospital as a psychopathic offender by Common Pleas Judge Joel H. Sharp Monday.

The judge suspended the sentence and ordered him sent to the hospital following testimony by a hospital psychiatrist, Dr. Wolodymyr Iwanowicz, who had examined Rockwood.

Idaho Senator Dies of Heart Attack At 67

WASHINGTON (AP)—Idaho's Republican Sen. Henry C. Dworshak, a staunchly conservative voice on Capitol Hill since 1939, is dead of a heart attack at 67.

His wife found him unconscious Monday night in the bedroom of their apartment and he was dead on arrival at Georgetown University Hospital. A son, Ward C. Dworshak, said the senator had suffered heart trouble in recent years.

Dworshak was the fourth conservative Republican senator to die within eight months. The others were Styles Bridges of New Hampshire, who died last November, Andrew Schoepel of Kansas, who died in January, and Francis Case of South Dakota, who died last March.

Speculation arose that Gov. Robert E. Smylie, the Republican nominee for a third four-year term as governor of Idaho, might resign and arrange to be appointed Dworshak's successor in the Senate.

The death apparently means there will be an election this fall in Idaho to fill the four years remaining in Dworshak's term.

Dworshak was one of the Senate's hardest workers. In the 1953-54 Congress he answered every one of the 261 roll calls.

He also was one of the Senate's most consistent conservatives.

Born in Duluth, Minn., on Aug. 29, 1894, Dworshak worked in the printing and editorial departments of several newspapers before World War I. After service with the American Expeditionary Force in World War I, he became publisher and editor of the Burley (Idaho) Bulletin, which he continued to operate until 1944.

Dworshak served four terms in the House before he was elected to the Senate in 1946.

It closed as he was in the midst of contending refusal to cash dollars for gold "would be the most backward step the United States has taken since the end of the second World War." He predicted the inflow and outgo of gold would be balanced next year and guaranteed the United States would not devalue the dollar.

Through the remainder of the conference, Kennedy made these comments:

TAXES—Not until next month, when the economic indicators for July are analyzed, can the administration or Congress decide whether a shot in the arm, such as a tax cut, is essential.

POLITICS—Kennedy said he would campaign for Democrats who support his programs, against Republicans who don't. A net gain of 5 to 10 in the House, he said, would give the administration a workable majority.

POPULARITY—Noting that one poll showed his popularity stock dropping from 79 per cent to 69, Kennedy said he "would feel I had not met my responsibilities" if it stayed up after a session of Congress in which he took controversial positions.

CONGO—Failure of the U.N. effort to integrate Katanga with the central Congolese government could lead to chaos, Kennedy said.

NUCLEAR SAFEGUARDS—U.S. underground tests have produced encouraging data on distinguishing such explosions from earthquakes, the President said, but U.S. policy on safeguarding a test ban treaty with international inspection teams cannot change until the data is thoroughly analyzed.

CIVIL RIGHTS—Asked about the Rev. Martin Luther King's urging him to speak out more against segregation, Kennedy said he has "made it very clear" that he stands for constitutional rights for all and promised additional steps to guarantee equal opportunities.

Cleveland Council Session Is Confusing

CLEVELAND (AP) — Spectators at a 20-minute Council meeting in suburban Shaker Heights Monday night practically needed a score card to tell who was mayor. The mayor's chair switched hands twice.

Mayor Wilson G. Stapleton resigned and Vice Mayor and Councilman Robert D. Templeman was sworn in as mayor. Council then passed two ordinances—one creating the post of consultant for city affairs at a salary of $10,000, and the other boosting the safety director's salary from $3,000 to $8,000.

Transportation Director Paul K. Jones was nominated to fill the vacancy in Council. Jones resigned as transportation director. Mayor Templeman appointed ex-mayor Stapleton as the first consultant for city affairs.

Jones was elected unanimously to Council. Templeman resigned as mayor. Jones was elected mayor. Council elected Templeman to his former positions of councilman and vice mayor.

vate practitioners had closed their doors rather than work under the compulsory government plan that went into effect July 1. The insurance plan, financed by taxes and assessments against each single adult or family, provides medical care for all persons under a set schedule of fees.

The agreement ended a battle that began 2½ years ago when Saskatchewan's government began to organize the first compulsory prepaid medical care plan in North America.

Most of Saskatchewan's 928,000 population is already insured by two doctor-sponsored programs. Officials of the College of Physicians and Surgeons say most doctors will work outside the act.

The agreement means the doctors' acceptance of the principle of universal compulsory coverage, which many still bitterly oppose individually.

day to make way for the windup of the 14-nation conference on Laos and a flurry of foreign ministers' meetings on Berlin.

Like disarmament, the Berlin dispute is no closer to settlement. However, Gromyko invited Rusk to lunch today for more talks on the issue which both the United States and the Soviet Union consider the most volatile of all East-West disputes.

In four months of negotiations, the 17-nation disarmament conference has made no headway toward either world disarmament or an agreement to ban nuclear weapons tests.

High Western diplomats frankly admit there seems to be little chance for any substantial progress in the complex and involved disarmament negotiations in the foreseeable future.

'Walk' Light

previously presented. "I can't say for sure yet what the total cost will be, but it will be mighty cheap—nothing like $2,300," the mayor stated.

The city has not had walk lights since the spring of 1958. They were first put up at the downtown intersections in October, 1954, during Cranmer's first term as mayor. The walk lights remained up until the spring of 1958 when they were taken down during the administration of Mayor Harold Smith.

Mayor Cranmer and the Democratic party made the re-installation of walk lights one of their campaign promises at the last general election in November.

Mayor Cranmer said the new walk light will be larger and easier to see than the ones which were up between 1954 and 1958.

He said the walk light will remain on for approximately 15 seconds during each cycle of the traffic signal. All vehicle traffic will be stopped during the walk period. Pedestrians may cross the intersection in any direction, including diagonally, during that time.

Letter

which ended 17 years ago should be wiped out by a peace treaty.

2. The Soviet Union proposes to sign such a treaty with the government of East Germany and you are hopeful that it will be signed or acquiesced to by the United States, Great Britain and France.

3. Such a treaty should establish what is now known as West Berlin as what you call a "free city."

4. Such a solution must, in your view, include the withdrawal of U.S., U.K. (British), and French troops from West Berlin.

5. The people of Berlin would then feel more secure, more confident of the future, and be happier.

6. Unless all this occurs, West Berlin will "wither on the vine."

Mr. Chairman, we hope you will be interested in the opinions of the people with whom we talked. We were.

In America, actions of governments are dictated by judgments of the people.

When we read your statement that the Germans of Berlin would be "much more at ease" and enjoy "prospects for further development" if a peace treaty were signed and Western troops withdrawn, we could hardly finish before the person being interviewed would exclaim "nein."

This means the same as the Russian "nyet."

When we asked if they would sleep easier if Allied troops with drew from Berlin, they said: "Nein. In 30 days Russia would gobble up Berlin."

When we asked if a peace treaty would reassure them, a West Berlin policeman at the wall said, "You Americans of all people should know how little is the meaning of such promises."

Berliners, with the bitter firsthand experience of two dictatorships—Hitler's and Stalin's—behind them say they are not fooled by propositions for a Soviet-style "peace."

They say they can see for themselves what this "peace" means for their own relatives just a few blocks away in East Berlin. In their conversations with us they left no doubt that they fear the same fate if the American soldiers and their allies quit the city. These are no longer "occupation" troops in the minds of the Berliners with whom we talked but rather "our protectors."

We talked with a Lutheran nun, standing on the west side of the wall waving at a window a block away from which she hoped a friend on the east side was watching. We talked with a middle-aged housewife, teetering tearfully on a parapet, waving and hoping her aged mother would see her from an apartment half a block across the wall. These and all the others said "nein."

We talked with a woman more than 70 years old in East Berlin—and she was perhaps the most vehement of all in insisting that there must be no yielding, else all hope for her and Germany's remaining freedom be lost.

Mr. Chairman, we wonder if you have ever seen the wall? It is impossible to envisage it otherwise.

The wall takes many forms. The 26 miles between East and West Berlin is a continuous barricade of houses with bricked-in windows, garden walls with broken glass scattered on top, barbed wire, guarded stretches of canal where fleeing East Berliners have been shot by East Berlin guards. For long stretches jagged barriers of iron and steel back up heavy masonry. Spotlights rake wide areas at night.

Let us particularly describe one section, that in the Wedding District of northern East Berlin.

There blocks of East German apartment buildings face west on a street dividing East and West Berlin. When residents saw that East Berlin was to be fenced in, some of them escaped by jumping from second and third story windows into mats held by West German firemen.

Those apartment houses then were ordered evacuated. For blocks, the windows of every building were sealed with bricks and concrete. Some persons desperately leaped from seven-story roofs. There are wreaths and markers where East Berliners crashed to their deaths on the sidewalks. Finally, barbed wire was strung on the roofs.

Truly, Mr. Chairman, you have to see it to believe it. We hope you will come and have a look.

Sincerely yours,
Paul Miller and Walker Stone.

The Ideal Wife

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP)—What is the ideal wife?

Publicly, the ordinary man may say she's the woman he married. Privately, he may have other ideas.

But after years of listening to men griping about women and their foibles, I've put together a kind of dream picture of the dream bride.

The ideal wife is one who—

Always knows where her husband absent-mindedly left the car keys.

Thinks it's a privilege to pick up his clothes from the floor.

Sews her own clothes—and they look as if they had been designed by Balenciaga or Dior.

Loves her husband's jokes, and gets a real kick out of hearing him tell them at parties.

Never phones him at the office to bother him with home emergencies.

Always has plenty of charcoal on hand when he suddenly decides to preside at a back yard cookout.

Keeps enough of her own cigarettes around so that she never has to borrow his, but can lend him some if his supply runs out.

Can fix a leaky faucet or balky television set without having to call in an expensive plumber or repair man.

Buys her husband the kind of neckties that win him compliments for his good taste from the girls in his office.

Has his boss convinced she's a good down-to-earth sensible girl—just the right mate to help a fellow climb the ladder of success in the business world.

Listens eagerly to her husband give his opinions on international affairs—and keeps her own views to herself.

Has the children so firmly in hand he can brag about them, and never has to discipline them himself.

Looks like Marilyn Monroe at the breakfast table, and never discusses family finances with her because she knows that's when her husband likes to skim through the newspaper.

Loves to cut the lawn in summer, and to shovel snow off the driveway in winter.

When the family bank account is busted, always manages to have a distant relative who conveniently passes away and leaves her some fresh money.

Well, that's the ideal wife—if you believed what some husbands say. But do you know what would happen to a man who met and married a girl like that?

In less than a year he'd be so bored with her he'd run away from home.

Next: The Ideal Husband.

Cincy's O'Toole Blanks Bucs 3-0 On 1 Hit; Giants Win

By BOB GREEN
Associated Press Sports Writer

Frank Howard is a huge young man who just may have found something he's been looking for—himself.

The Los Angeles Dodgers have been waiting—sometimes not too patiently—for most of two years for the 6-foot-6, 250-pound giant to start hitting the long ball, the missing ingredient in their swift attack.

Has Five Homers In 6 Games
Suddenly, Howard has obliged. He has lashed five home runs in the last six games, driving in 11 runs as the Dodgers continue to hold off the pressing San Francisco Giants.

His two-run homer triggered a three-run second inning Monday night that put the Dodgers off and running to their fourth straight victory, a 9-2 romp over St. Louis.

The Giants stayed two games back with a 5-1 edge over Houston. Jim O'Toole, young Cincinnati left-hander who also has had his troubles this season, hurled a masterful one-hitter as the Reds knocked Pittsburgh 5½ games back, 3-0. Philadelphia handed the Chicago Cubs their seventh loss in a row, 5-3 in the only other National League game scheduled.

Howard's power has been the key to four of Los Angeles' last five victories. Maury Wills and Jim Gilliam also chipped in with homers to make it easy for Johnny Podres (6-7) to coast in. Starter Ray Sadecki (6-8) took the loss.

O'Toole, who had a 19-9 record last season, but has slipped to 9-11 this year, also appeared to have found himself in the one-hitter against the Pirates.

He had a perfect game through 7 1-3 innings before Bob Skinner lined a double to right center. The only other Pirate baserunner was Bill Virdon, who walked in the ninth.

Bolin's Record Now 6-0
Willie Mays and Orlando Cepeda each drove in two runs to help Bob Bolin to his sixth victory without a loss in the Giant triumph over the Cards. Mays contributed his 29th homer and a double. Cepeda had two doubles and a single.

Philadelphia scored all its runs in the last three innings in overcoming a 3-0 Cub lead. Don Demeter started it with his 15th homer in the seventh and the Phillies went ahead to stay on singles by Clay Dalrymple, Demeter, and Reuben Amaro and a sacrifice fly.

Tribe's Feller Honored

Baseball Inducts Four Into Hall Of Fame

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer
COOPERSTOWN, N.Y. (AP)—Jackie Robinson said there was no doubt about it, being the first Negro to play in the big leagues helped him make baseball's Hall of Fame on the first try.

Robinson and Bobby Feller, Cleveland's great pitching ace, were inducted formally Monday along with veterans Bill McKechnie and Edd Roush. Robinson and Feller were picked by the baseball writers the first year they became eligible—five years after their retirement. McKechnie and Roush were selected by the veterans committee that screens old timers.

Being First Negro Helped
"There is no question about it," said Robinson after the ceremonies, "if I was not the first Negro player I might have made it eventually but probably not the first time around. I don't say that was the only reason, of course, but it was one of the factors."

Robinson, the former Brooklyn Dodger speedster, now is a 42-year-old business executive with patches of gray in his hair. "Everything is complete now," said Robinson in his short talk to the crowd assembled around the platform on Main Street in front of the Hall of Fame and Museum. "It could not have happened without the advice and guidance of the three most wonderful people I know."

Robinson mentioned Branch Rickey, former Dodger president who helped him break the color line at Brooklyn in 1947; his mother, Mrs. Mallie Robinson, and his wife, Rachel, all of whom were seated nearby. His three children also were present.

Feller, also accompanied by his wife and two of his three boys, joked about his record for most bases on balls in a career and a season.

Feller didn't mention such outstanding accomplishments as 296 wins, three no hitters, 12 one hitters, 18 strikeouts in one game, and 346 strikeouts in 1946.

Only Man To Manage 3 Winners
McKechnie, 72, spoke with emotion. He is the only man ever to have managed pennant winners in three different cities. "If I have ever contributed anything to baseball," he said, "I have been repaid seven times over today."

Roush, 68, former outfield great in the National League, had been a frequent critic of the manner of electing members to the hall. He never had made it in the writers vote but was named in January by the veterans committee which handles old timers retired at least 30 years. A change in the rules announced Sunday gives the veterans committee jurisdiction in the future over all those retired 20 years.

"The change is good," said Roush, "but I think they ought to open it up more. Say put 10 of the old fellows in each year, men like Sam Rice and Eppa Rixey. It's not good putting a fellow in after he is dead."

IM Snaps Losing Streak; Stepanic's Wins

Lincoln Moves To 2nd on Shoff's Hit

Lincoln Machine took over sole possession of second place in the Class AA Softball League by nipping Old Dutch 8-7 on Bob Shoff's single in the seventh inning in one of three loop encounters played Monday at Kelley Park.

In other games league-leading Stepanic's Tavern held off a late rush by Tullis American to chalk up a narrow 9-7 win and Industrial Mining broke a seven-game losing streak by downing the Purty Deeres 5-3.

Old Dutch and Lincoln Machine entered their contest tied for the runner-up spot with 11-7 marks. The victory pushes Lincoln's record to 12-7, two and a half games back of Stepanic's (15-5) while Old Dutch slipped three and a half games off the pace with an 11-8 tally.

LINCOLN MACHINE spotted Old Dutch a 4-0 lead in the first frame as the losers put together singles by Lefty Miller, Dick Wyss, Jim Barnes and Ken Schoen to grab the lead.

The winners began to chip away at Old Dutch's margin by pushing one run across the saucer in the second canto and then exploded with a six-run rally in the third stanza to take a 7-4 margin.

Pacing the Lincoln Machine surge in the third frame was a double by Casey Lease and singles by Bill Crookston and Jack Jackson. The winners were aided by two walks and an Old Dutch error.

Old Dutch fought back to tie the count in the sixth inning at 7-7 with a three-run rally. The losers' Glen Mercer led off the frame by getting hit by the Lincoln pitcher, advanced on a single by Wyss and then Dick Youngpeter rapped a two-run triple. Barnes climaxed the rally with a single to score Youngpeter.

Lincoln Machine managed to pull the game out of the fire in the last of the seventh frame when Bill DeFavero led the inning off by reaching base on an error and was followed by two walks to load the bases. Shoff then rapped his game winning single scoring DeFavero with the deciding run.

LEASE PACED THE Lincoln attack with two hits. Barnes was the power in the Old Dutch attack with three safeties in four trips to the plate.

Stepanic's sailed to a 7-0 lead after five innings of play over the Tullis nine but a late onslaught of eight hits by Tullis almost sent the league leaders down to defeat. The losers chalked up seven runs in the final two frames of play with Dick Boughton's three-

Angels Nip Orioles 6-5

Bob Allison, Dick Stigman Star As Twins Rout Tigers

By DON WEISS
Associated Press Sports Writer

Cal Griffith of the Minnesota Twins said it recently: When Harmon Killebrew and Bob Allison start to hit, and if we can find another starting pitcher, we'll cause lots of trouble yet.

Killebrew? He went on a homer binge starting two weeks ago and now has 25 home runs with 69 runs batted in.

Allison? He has hit at a .393 clip in his last seven games, including five home runs and 14 RBI.

Pitches 2 Complete Games In Row
The starting pitcher? How about Dick Stigman, the forgotten left-hander who was yanked from the bullpen six days ago and since has pitched two straight complete game victories while striking out 19 and allowing only 11 hits? ... Owner Griffith watched in glee Monday night as Allison, hitting in his seventh straight game, rapped a three-run homer behind Stigman, who scattered five hits and fanned eight in beating the Detroit Tigers, 8-1 at Minnesota.

The victory enabled the revived Twins to keep pace with the runner-up Angels, who came from behind to nip Baltimore, 6-5 in 14 innings.

The two were the only games played in the AL Monday. Before he got his first start of the season July 18 against Cleveland, Stigman had appeared in relief 25 times for the Twins, had a 3-2 record but had pitched only 32 innings.

A two-run homer by Rich Rollins, his 13th, and Lenny Green's 11th got the Twins off to a 4-0 lead in two innings. Allison, who has climbed to .272 with 54 RBI, hit No. 14 with two on in the seventh. The only Tiger run came in the third when Stigman uncorked a wild pitch with the bases loaded and Rocky Colavito batting. Rocky then struck out.

Niles, Junior Postlewait of Mineral Ridge, Chuck Dorsey of Warren and many others.

Bob Stephens of Warren tops a large field of amateurs, which will include Ken Suggett of Salem, Charlie Jones of Youngstown, Roy Shook of Boardman and Bill Larson of Youngstown.

Time trials will get rolling at 7 p.m. with first race at 8:30. Canfield officials also announce another destruction derby, scheduled on Wednesday night, Aug. 15.

winning run in the 14th against reliever Dick Hall when Felix Torres delivered a bases-loaded single. It was the first run off Hall after a string of 20 shutout innings.

Dean Chance (7-5) got the win for the Angels with five strong innings of relief after Los Angeles rallied to tie the score in the ninth. The win moved the Angels to within 2½ games of the league-leading Yankees who had the day off.

Disc Jockeys Featured At Canfield Oval
Canfield Speedway will resume stock car racing on Saturday night, and the big triple-header program, which was rained out July 14, is rescheduled.

There will be amateurs in seven races, late models in four and a big special dual for area radio and TV personalities. This will be Canfield's first disc jockey race of the year.

Entered in the disc jockey duel are Ken Vaughn and Matt Stevens of WHHH in Warren, Jim Mullins and Ken Thomas of WKBN, Johnny Kaye, George Barry and Dick Thompson of WHOT, Bob Morgan of WFMJ and Barney Bean of WKST.

The late model field will be headed by Jim Bickerstaff, but he will find plenty of competition in Gus Iacozzi, a fellow Warrenite; Bill Fornoy of Youngstown, Don Sawyer of Girard, Paul Kerr of Youngstown, Nook Walters of Niles, Junior Postlewait of Mineral Ridge, Chuck Dorsey of Warren and many others.

Bob Hisson Fires Ace
Robert Hisson of 650 Woodland Ave. recorded the first hole-in-one this season at the Robbyn's Knoll Golf Course Saturday.

Hisson fired his ace on the 147-yard, No. 2 hole with No. 9 iron. This was the first hole-in-one on the No. 2 hole. Hisson scored a 42 for the round.

Paul Hornung Sheds Private's Stripes, Returns to Packers

By LEO MARKS
Associated Press Sports Writer
FT. RILEY Kan. (AP) — Paul Hornung shed his private first class stripes today and, in a word, said he liked gettin' out of the army fine.

Hornung completed his processing at Ft. Riley and was to be flown to Green Bay, Wis., in a private plane by a pilot friend.

Green Bay's 6-foot-3, 210-pound Heisman Trophy winner from Notre Dame, looked every inch the wonder boy who kicked, passed and ran the Packers to a 37-0 playoff rout of the New York Giants for the National Football League championship last winter. He scored 19 of those points himself, a record for a title game.

Hornung was named the NFL

Most Valuable Player of the year. He has led the league in scoring since 1959.

Hornung already was in the service when he led the Packers to their championship on that cold December day at Green Bay. He missed only three games after being activated as a reservist in November.

As for that pinched nerve in his neck which has given him trouble since the 1960 season, he said, "It's about the same as it was last year. I have been treating this condition at the post hospital here, but it isn't something that I'm going to get over in a short time."

Other than whirlpool baths for his neck and an emergency operation for appendicitis in May, he had no preferential treatment, Paul said. "I was treated like any other soldier."

Hornung served as a combination jeep driver and radio operator with the 898th Engineer company, a National Guard outfit from Bismarck, N.D. It is being deactivated Aug. 1.

Indians' Ace Opens Series With Athletics

KANSAS CITY (AP)—Is Dick Donovan in a slump? If he is, the Cleveland Indians are in deeper trouble than they think they are now.

Donovan, the ace right-hander of a shaky Cleveland pitching staff, has won only one game this month—back on July 2.

The tall Irishman goes to the mound against Kansas City tonight, facing either Diego Segui (6-5) or Bob Giggie (1-0) in the opener of a two-game series.

Donovan has won 12 games against 4 defeats and has completed 9 of his 20 starts, including three shutouts. His credentials are among the best of any pitcher in the league. His earned run average is a good 2.96 for 149 innings.

But he hasn't been winning lately.

Donovan has failed to finish his last three starts, the longest he's gone this season without notching a triumph. But only in his last outing, when Minnesota thumped him for four runs and seven hits in 3 1-3 innings, has he looked bad.

The only game Donovan won this month was a beauty—a two-hit shutout over Baltimore in which he faced the minimum 27 men. In April, Donovan posted victories in all four starts.

Palmer's Winnings Approach '60 Total

DUNEDIN, Fla. (AP)—Despite a poor showing in the PGA championship over the weekend, Arnold Palmer is nearly $1,000 closer to breaking the money winning record he set in 1960.

Palmer's winnings this year amount to $71,198. The record is $75,262.

Gene Littler is second with $57,260 on the list of 10 top money winners released by the Professional Golfers' Association today.

Bill Casper Jr. is third with $52,438 and Jack Nicklaus fourth with $48,148.

The PGA champion, Gary Player, is $13,000 richer and now has a total of $41,513. He was the top money winner last year with more than $64,000.

Hot Stove Leagues

One Class E, two Class F, one Class G and two Class H Hot Stove League encounters were played Monday with one no-hitter being recorded.

Class E

After collecting 11 wins in a row in league competition the Famous Market went down to defeat at the hands of CIO 3372 by the score of 6-4.

The Market took a 1-0 lead in the first on a homer by George Begalla but the CIO crew stormed back with four runs in the last of the second on a double by Rich Parlonteri and singles by Jim Hippley, Dave Walker, Norm Updegraff and Jim Huber.

The losers tied the count at 4-4 in the third with the aid of two walks, an error and a single by Begalla.

CIO 3372 CAPTURED the win with a two-run rally in the sixth frame without getting a hit as Hippley led the canto off with a walk, two fielder's choices followed and two more walks were issued.

Parlonteri with two hits featured off CIO 3372. Begalla chalked up three safeties for the losers off winning hurler Don Kendrick.

Class F

Fisher's News and the Farmers Bank played scoreless ball for the first four innings before Fisher's broke the ice in the fifth with two runs and then went on to trip the Bank 5-3.

Two walks and an error aided the Fisher nine in taking the 2-0 margin in the fifth. The winners added another tally in the top of the sixth to lead 3-0. The Bank tied the score in the sixth on Barry Marks' triple and Chris Christofaris' single powering the way.

Two more walks for Fisher's in the seventh along with a single off the bat of Rod Bentley gave Fisher's the win.

HOWARD FOWLER WITH a triple paced the News at a c.k. Marks' triple featured for the Bank.

Eljer jumped to an 8-0 lead in the first inning and coasted to an 11-4 romp over Mullins.

Pacing the Eljer nine-hit attack was Rick Metts with two doubles and a single. Bob Craig chipped in with a three-run homer in the first inning for the winners.

George Panzott collected two of the three Mullins singles.

Class G

The Italian Club chalked up its third win in 13 starts by dumping the National Cleaners 8-4. The loss gives the Cleaners a 10 - 2 mark now.

The winners moved to a 2-1 first inning margin and never was headed as they added two in the second, one in the third and finished up with three in the fourth. The Cleaners pushed two runs across in the third and added one in the sixth.

Pacing the Italian Club victory were Greg Cline and Greg Proctor with two singles apiece.

Rick Liber with three hits and George Christofaris with a triple showed the way for the Cleaners.

Class H

The Jaycees took a 3-1 lead in the first inning and tallied in every frame to roll over the Independent Hose Co. 12-1.

Art Bowen rapped a triple in the first inning to drive in the first tally and then socked a two-run homer in the second to provide the big bat for the winners. Bowen also added a single in the fourth canto.

BART CHRISTEN WITH a double and a single aided the Jaycees cause.

Ernie Stevens with two singles featured for the Hose nine.

Merchants Vending chalked up 14 hits while three pitchers held Howard's Studio hitless as the Vending nine scored a 25-5 victory.

The Vending crew tallied six runs in the first, 10 in the second and nine in the third in downing Howard's.

Tom Fisher, Nelson Stoddard and Tom Shea combined to no-hit Howard's.

Pacing the Vending attack were Don Rambacher and Stoddard with three safeties each. Tom Capel, Rich Cramer and Shea chipped in with two hits, including homers by Capel and Cramer.

Time Factor Faces Brown At Camp Site

HIRAM, Ohio (AP) — Coach Paul Brown and his assistants starts today what he calls a race against time in "putting together the pieces" for the Cleveland Browns' 1962 campaign in the National Football League.

Only 45 of 57 players on the roster were on hand when the training camp opened Monday. The day was taken up with Brown's orientation lecture, a classification test, picture taking and wind sprints.

"I don't believe we've ever opened camp with so many being absent," Brown remarked. "It creates an unprecedented problem but one over which we have no control. It's an advantage to the ones here and I hope they make use of the opportunity."

"We have less than three weeks before our first exhibition game."

Four veterans—Dick Schafrath, Charley Ferguson, Ross Fictner and Jim Houston—are in military service. The College All Stars have claimed five players—Ernie Davis, Gary Collins, Frank Parker, Mike Lucci and Charley Hinton. Bill Glass, the defensive end obtained from Detroit, is due this afternoon.

Major League Stars

Hitting—Frank Howard, Dodgers, hit his fifth home run in six days in leading Los Angeles to a 9-2 victory over St. Louis.

Pitching—Jim O'Toole, Cincinnati left-hander, had a perfect game for 7 1-3 innings before Bob Skinner doubled for Pittsburgh's only hit in 3-0 Red victory.

Ray Rogers Victor In E. Liverpool Tourney

Top-seeded Ray Rogers of Salem captured the third annual Lions Club Junior Tennis Tournament Sunday at Thompson Park in East Liverpool.

The 17-year-old Rogers, who was runner-up last year, defeated Tom Horwitz of Butler, Pa., 2-6, 6-3 and 6-4. He will be eligible to defend his title next year.

Monday's Fights

TOKYO — "Fighting" Harada, 111½, Tokyo, outpointed Little Rufe, 112, Philippines 10.

Hot Stove League Schedule Changes

The Class H Hot Stove League games scheduled for Friday have been postponed because of the sectional tournament that will be concluded here over the weekend, league officials announced today. The games will be played at a later date.

The Class F League games scheduled for Wednesday that were postponed have been rescheduled for Thursday with Eljer meeting Sekely's at Memorial North and the Elks vying with the Farmers Bank at Memorial South. Both games are at 6 p.m.

Knepper Tallies 72 At Robbyn's Knoll Event

Ralph Knepper fired a low gross of 72 to capture honors over a field of 250 at the Robbyn's Knoll Field Day held at the course Saturday.

Tying for low net tally were Bill Odorizzi and Cy Albert, both with 65's.

In other activities of the field day, Bullet Schaffer chalked up the longest drive on No. 3; Dave Sutton was closest to the pin on No. 7, and Dick Jones recorded the longest putt on No. 9.

In this day of Mechanized Farming, Farm Safety is of the utmost importance; it pays to be alert and have everything in order. See that tractors, trucks, and other farm machinery and equipment are kept in repair. Watch electric especially in the outbuildings. Be careful about building bonfires. Fire on a farm is a serious matter! Do you carry Liability Insurance, so that if someone is injured on your property you would be protected? Are your buildings properly insured? Do you have accident and hospitalization insurance? The modern farm is like a factory and safety first is given great importance in manufacturing plants, Better Be Safe Than Sorry!

Surveys show that many of these accidents on farm-lands and about farm buildings took the lives of young people who were not properly safeguarded by their parents and had not acquired safety instructions.

Foresight now will at least take the sting of financial burden away from these accidents that seem bound to happen!

OUR BOARDING HOUSE

A word from THERON at the Old Country Store

If you like to golf, fish, swim or have a picnic come out to the Columbiana-Lisbon Road to Copeland Hills golf course and Copeland Lake Park. They are located just below our Country Store.

When I was a boy we built a small dam in the creek and enjoyed many happy hours there. Now they have a nice lake just like the one we used to dream about. It's a beautiful sight from the highway and a real asset to our community.
